Meet the Staff

My name is Quinn and I'm the technical services librarian. I work mostly behind the scenes doing cataloging work but also help out at the adult reference desk. What I like most about working here is getting to see/skim through all the new books as they come in. I also like the unpredictability of working at the reference desk; I never know what someone might ask. When I have free time, I enjoy getting outside and exploring the parks, trails, and caves in the area. I'm an adrenaline junkie and LOVE TO TRAVEL! Prior to moving here I took a brief hiatus from adulting and spent three wonderful years traveling the world, taking in all the sights, and learning about different cultures/lifestyles. I've been to 26 countries so far and the more I see, the more I want to see.

I'm a nonfiction reader and a dreamer so I typically go for books about exploration or travel guides. My most recent read, although a tragic event, is an inspirational story and overall a good read.

At home in England, Darling is a mischievous but much loved pet to Robert and Katherine. But when the British military asks families to volunteer their dogs to help the war effort, they send Darling off to be trained, even though it is very hard to say goodbye. Darling goes through training along with many other dogs and is ultimately used as a mercy dog, seeking out injured soldiers on the battlefield and leading the medics to them. After saving the lives of numerous soldiers, Darling is faced with a major challenge.

Fearing the actions of Superman are being left unchecked, Batman takes him on, while the world wrestles with what kind of a hero it really needs. With Batman and Superman fighting each other, a new threat, Doomsday, is created by Lex Luthor. It's up to Superman and Batman, along with Wonder Woman, to set aside their differences and to stop Lex Luthor and Doomsday from destroying Metropolis.
